

MORROW SAYS "GIVE US LOWDEN"

And We Will Smash Hindenburg Line of Democracy Forever.—Convention Doings

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, June 11—When the convention met it was agreed to stay in session until the presidential candidate was nominated. The prospects were for an all day and probably night session.

At 10:06 o'clock the secretary began calling the roll of states for nominations.

Alabama passed and Arizona yielded to Kansas for the nomination of General Wood by Governor Allen, who was escorted to the platform amid a demonstration.

During Gov. Allen's recital of Wood's record of public service, Wood supporters injected frequent cheers. At the conclusion of the nominating speech a shower of turkey feathers, the Wood emblem, were released from the top of the Coliseum and in a moment the inevitable parade around the room began, which with the ensuing demonstration, the noise making instruments continued for forty minutes.

Frank Knox, of New Hampshire, and Mrs. Douglas Robinson, of New York, made the second speeches. She is the first woman to perform that function in a national convention and got an ovation.

Then Arkansas yielded to Illinois, and Representative Rodenberg nominated Governor Lowden. As he warmed up the Lowden supporters cheered repeatedly.

As soon as Rodenberg's speech was completed, the Lowden demonstration began. His delegates carried large pictures of Lowden, Illinois, Iowa, Oklahoma, Connecticut, Arkansas, and Kentucky delegations showed up in the Lowden parade, which continued for half an hour, rested and then reorganized again in singing a song of refrain from the galleries "We Want Lowden." After 42 minutes the demonstration stilled and Charles Pickett, of Waterloo, Iowa, seconded Lowden's nomination.

Another woman, Mrs. Fletcher Dobins, of Chicago, was called to the rostrum, and she followed Pickett seconding Lowden's nomination.

Gov. Morrow made another brief seconding speech. "Kentucky, Republican Kentucky," he said, "brings you this message: Give us to lead the hosts of battle in November, Frank Lowden, and with him we will smash the Hindenburg line of democracy forever."

Wood Claiming It

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, June 11—Wood managers were claiming victory on the third or fourth ballot when the Republican National Convention met today. The prediction of others were less definite.

Platform Ignores League

Chicago, June 11—The Republican party will enter the 1920 campaign without being committed to the League of Nations.

Late Thursday afternoon the full Committee on Resolutions adopted with but one opposing vote—that of the member from Wisconsin—a compromise plank that appeared to meet with the approval of the leaders who had been contending here regarding what should be said on the League issue.

That the course was chosen with the full knowledge that a large contingent in the convention—and throughout the country—favored ratification of the League of Nations with something akin to the Lodge reservations, and for the purpose of preventing a bolt on the part of such "bitter-enders" as Senator Wm. E. Borah and Hiram W. Johnson and their ardent followers, will not be denied.

There was little or no attempt at "camouflage" after the agreement on the League question was reached at an early hour Thursday morning.

Something evidently had to be done to please the Borah-Johnson element.

The compromise which Senator Borah said was entirely satisfactory to him and to men of his belief on the treaty, has brought joy to the leaders of the party in that it assures them that there will be no split here on a declaration of principles.

From the Sacred Codfish

Chicago, June 11—Characterizing Gov. Calvin Coolidge, of Massachusetts, as a man who believes that obedience to law is liberty and that this is a government of laws and not of men, Congressman Frederick H. Gillett, of Massachusetts, placed the name of the governor of his state in nomination for the presidency at the Republican National Convention here today.

Speaker Gillett told the Republican delegates that the placing of such a man as Gov. Coolidge in the presidential chair would clear the murky atmosphere of Washington like a bracing northern breeze. "He is as patient as Lincoln," Congressman Gillett said, "silent as Grant, diplomatic as McKinley, with the political instinct of Roosevelt."

Lowden's Introduction

Chicago, June 11.—Likening Gov. Frank O. Lowden unto Lincoln and telling the delegates to the Republican National Convention that once before many years ago Illinois was called upon to furnish a man when the nation was in dire distress, Congressman Wm. A. Rodenberg, of Illinois, today placed the name of the Illinois War Governor in nomination for the presidency of the United States.

"Three score years ago," Congressman Rodenberg said, "at a time when the passions of men were stirred to their depths, the nation turned for leadership to Illinois. We gave them Lincoln, and grandly, nobly, he met the test. * * * Illinois in 1920 stands ready to consecrate to the service of the Republic another of her great sons. * * * We present the patriotic governor of a patriotic state, Frank O. Lowden."

Prof. Butler Nominated

Chicago, June 11—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University was placed in nomination for the presidency before the Republican National Convention today by Ogden Mills of the New York delegation.

"Never since the election of Lincoln have the problems of such vital interest to our national life demanded wise leadership and demanded solution," said Mr. Mills. "While met ostensibly to nominate a candidate, we shall before we separate have in reality chosen a president. We are not concerned with any man's place of residence, or his chosen occupation, or his previous public offices. We are concerned with his fitness alone. Fitness is availability."

'SHINE WHISKY CAUSES KILLING'

News of a killing on the train from the mountains just as it approached Richmond Thursday night was brought to town Friday morning by Deputy U. S. Marshal Dave Reagan, of Frankfort. He said the young man named Tom McKinney was shot twice through the head and almost instantly killed. Mr. Reagan said that a brother-in-law of the dead man was accused of the shooting, but it was said he denied it. The U. S. officer said the young men were full of moonshine whisky, which, he said, is being made in large quantities up and down the creek, the famous oil district of Estlin county. Uncle Sam's men are being kept mighty busy in that section after the shiners.

Junior Senator from the State of Washington, was placed in nomination for the presidency today at the Republican National Convention by George H. Walker, of Seattle, a member of the Washington delegation.

"As surely as the past of a man is an earnest of his future this man will measure up to the performances of the great president who have gone before," Mr. Walker said. "In these latter days of ferment and unrest he has thrown himself without reserve against the forces of sedition and revolution. He believes in popular sovereignty. He trusts the people. He never moves by indecision."

West Virginia's Candidate

Chicago, June 11—Joseph M. Sanders, of West Virginia, is placing the name of Senator Howard Sutherland in nomination for the presidency at the Republican National Convention here today, told his hearers that care should be exercised in the choice of a candidate inasmuch as the greatest crisis in the history of the nation is now being faced.

Mr. Sanders introduced Senator Sutherland as a man who could be depended upon to meet this crisis. "The people of the country want the hand of tyranny removed from about their throats," said Mr. Sanders. "The rule of despotism should not be allowed to longer stand. We have a man who measures up to requirements in Senator Howard Sutherland of West Virginia."

Nominates Harding

Chicago, June 11—Assailing present administration as an oligarchy in which the few rule the many and telling his hearers that the country faces a problem more serious than those faced by either Washington or Lincoln, Frank B. Willis, former governor of Ohio, today placed the name of Senator Warren G. Harding in nomination for the presidency at the Republican National Convention.

COMMONWEALTH'S ATTORNEY ASSAULTED

"Wednesday afternoon of last week James A. Yantis made a verbal assault upon Commonwealth's Attorney R. S. Grannis, and Mr. Grannis promptly knocked him down," says the Lexington Times-Democrat.

"When he got up he made an assault upon Mr. Grannis with a knife, inflicting two cuts upon him, one a slight one in the arm and the other a more serious one on the breast bone, besides other cuts about the clothing. Sheriff Hart happened to be close by and separated them and put Mr. Yantis under arrest, and he was afterward released on bond. The next day the grand jury returned an indictment against Mr. Yantis for cutting with intent to kill. It is thought he was under the influence of liquor at the time the assault took place, and still there are those who will say that whisky is a good thing. It is understood that Mr. Yantis had been summoned to appear before the grand jury to tell where he had bought liquor, and that he blamed Mr. Grannis for having had him summoned. No doubt, when sober he realized his mistake."

COLVIN HAS GOOD WORD FOR US ALL

State Superintendent of Public Instruction George Colvin, who came to Richmond to deliver the graduating address to the students of the Madison High school Thursday night, paid a high tribute to student body faculty, city and press. He stated that during his stay here that reports emanating from the Richmond schools had attracted his attention some time ago and that he was pleased at the successful manner in which they were proceeding. He stated that he could generally draw a pretty good conclusion regarding the condition of the schools by the nature of reports issued from the city and that this feature in connection with Richmond was no exception. After reaching the city, Mr. Colvin stated he was more assured than ever over the satisfactory manner in which the schools of the city are going, and even after he had reached the high school building, he could tell by the general interest manifested by the part of pupils that they were all splendid spirits—and this, he claimed, is usually caused by good records having been made, which goes back to the instructors, then the faculty, and, in fact, he commented to a friend, "It brings us all to a point where the situation is to be regarded with much gratification."

FORMER GRADUATE ADDRESSES STUDENTS

Ivan E. McDougale, delivering the graduation address at the Eastern Normal, was a graduate at that institution seven years ago and as a student of literature has gained the highest degree now bestowed, that of Ph.D. He went east after completing his courses here and later became identified with the Clark University at Worcester, Mass., where he spent a number of years. He was offered a number of positions elsewhere with institutions of learning, and accepted a place at Sweet Briar, Va., where he will return after his stay in Richmond. He is meeting a number of old friends who are congratulating him upon his successful record. He is but one of many, however, who are making brilliant records, and reflect upon their initial training at the Eastern Normal as the stepping stone to their success. RECEPTION OF PRESIDENT COATES

Proved Most Brilliant Affair In Big List of Events At Normal School

The president's reception held on the campus at the president's home on Thursday evening was well attended and one of the most brilliant affairs ever seen in this city. The reception was in honor of the graduates of the different courses of the institution, each class being represented in the receiving line by the president of the class. Every student was in attendance as well as hundreds of local men and women.

The spacious lawn was brilliantly illuminated by electric lights of various colors. Seats were arranged on the lawn in groups where students visited with each other and became acquainted with hundreds of men and women whom they had not met before. Elder's orchestra furnished the music for the occasion and was stationed on the porch of the president's home. The side yard was artistically arranged and the refreshments were served from this point.

Due to the work of excavation on Lancaster avenue, no passing was permitted from the roadway through the campus to Lancaster avenue, and no noise or dust interfered with the program. The weather was ideal and conditions were such that all were highly pleased with the evening's entertainment.

This brilliant evening marks the close of the social activities on the part of the student body for the 1920 school year.

Parents and friends of the graduates were in attendance and will leave Richmond with the thought of the genial hospitality of the president and his family and the splendid appearance of the campus Thursday evening.

The alumni reception tonight will record the close of the festivities for this term, which have been characterized as the most brilliant and extensive in the history of Eastern Normal.

THE HIGHLANDERS PLEASE BIG CROWD

The first concert, Friday afternoon by the famous Scotch Highlanders band, under the supervision of Roy D. Smith, and for the benefit of the Jesse M. Dykes Post, No. 12, American Legion, was one that appealed to all and brought many from the city and when the word goes forth concerning the quality of the concert given, it is expected that a tremendous attendance will be the result tonight, when the musicians will appear for their final performance.

The courtyard was literally filled with interested spectators. The varied program was one that appealed to all the diversion being greatly appreciated. The specialties were unusual in number and quality. Sergeant McPherson, a brawny Scotchman, is one of those fellows who went over the top, as did several others of the band and they have been decorated, too, and they can fight as well as play. Sergeant Charles Nearing, cornet soloist, made a decided hit, as usual, and can play just as well as he did before the war, if not better. There will be a special program tonight.

NEW ASSESSMENT NOTICES BEING SERVED

The members of the Board of Supervisors who have been busily engaged for some time going over the books of the assessor, G. W. T. Deatherage, will perhaps make a few changes, some valuations, it is reported, being lower, while others will show an advance. The board announces that complaints will be heard on next Tuesday, June 15, when they will be in a position to hear all who desire to be heard regarding the change of assessment. The notices have been placed in the hands of Chief of Police Devore, who will serve them during the next few days. Generally, there will not be any great changes in the valuation as made by the general assessor.

PRESIDENT T. J. COATES' ADDRESS AT LANCASTER

President J. T. Coates, of Eastern Normal, is home from Lancaster, where he delivered the graduating address to the big class in the high school. His subject was "Education," and upon which he was, as is well known, well qualified to speak. His discourse was listened to intently by a large audience. President Coates is well known as a speaker of stellar qualities regarding educational matters, and his services have been in great demand for several years past, but more especially has he been called upon this year, when he has appeared at a number of schools to deliver the graduating oration.

AN EIGHT-MINUTE SESSION

Judge W. K. Price held a short session of court Thursday, it lasting eight minutes. The case was that of Alice vs. Bessie Cunliffe, the diamond ring case, which has been in various local courts for several weeks. The case was again continued. This was the only case on docket and was postponed previously at the regular session of the county court, and set for a hearing today.

When a man comes to you all doubled up with pain and declares he will die in your presence unless you procure him a drink of whisky, send him to a doctor or else give him a dose of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. JOHNSON QUARTERS A VERY BUSY PLACE

What Richmond Man Returning From Convention, Has To Say About the Affair

Chester Green, Richmond business man, just home from Chicago, where he made a trip combining business with pleasure, said the headquarters of Hiram Johnson was the only place he found that there was any great signs of life, and that there were more busy men there than at the National Republican Convention, proper.

"I heard the Lodge keynote speech," said Mr. Green, "and there was no moer to it, in my estimation, than the ordinary address, and there was a decided degree of quietness there in the convention hall, but at the Johnson headquarters, there was much hustle. I never saw as many women in attendance at a convention in my life, although I have not attended many. It occurs to me this thing is really a money affair, and I would like to see the old time election."

"It has come to a point in this country when the average man will have to stop and think—not pay any attention to the money, but the man. The time is now ripe for action from the heart and not the pocketbook. I am speaking in an unprejudiced way, when I say that the amount of money contributed for this nomination is ridiculous. Think of the amount of money spent for the nomination alone! If it costs more than a million to nominate a man, what will it cost to elect him?"

"At many of the hotels the picture of Lowden is to be seen. In a number of instances, I saw a big dollar mark across the picture. I not only saw this once, but in many instances. I called a number of people's attention to it, and all of them, one after another, just laughed, making no comment. It is a rich piece of work, this election business now. I would like to see the old fashioned kind, where the parties have their flag raising, then go to the polls and vote, then go home and await to see who has been elected."

"I saw but two men from Richmond besides myself, there. They are J. N. Hendren and B. E. Le-lue. They are still there. The Kentucky headquarters are in Congress Hotel. This is one of the most active places to be found in Chicago. Prices are high and the city is crowded."

ONE JUNE BRIDE PER DAY THUS FAR

June, the month of roses and brides, is holding up well thus far in the latter, since, with one exception, there has been a new bride for each day. The first of the month barely escaped, one marriage license being issued. This week has averaged one per day, although it was late Thursday when an application made by Dudley C. Berry-tive groom 70 years of age at that, and county office attaches believed that Friday would be a hoo-hoo and not hold its own, but at 10 o'clock there was an application made by Dudley Jay Berryman, 26, a clerk, of College Hill, to wed Miss Carrie M. Ginter, 25, also of that place. The wedding will take place at College Hill Friday evening. Mr. Berryman is a well known young man of the vicinity in which he lives and his bride, who has been a resident there for a number of years, is also well and favorably known.

LOOK PLEASANT, PLEASE
Richmond photographers have had a busy week, numerous graduating students being the patrons.
